Read "Smallpox Letter."

The communication of patients of the pesthouse regarding conditions was read to the commission. After the discussion of the statement made in the communication relative to the $15 collected for the city, Commissioner Thompson moved that Mr. Linder be required to furnish a report for the past year, showing money collected and other information to the commission to be had at its meeting next Monday.

During the discussion the commissioners agreed that the city had outgrown the pesthouse and that a better place was needed.

The city commission adopted a resolution naming all of the private banks in Bismarck as legal depositories of the city, under the terms of H. B. 212, passed by the legislature last week. After creating public depositories the city funds now in the Bank of North Dakota were ordered withdrawn, to be deposited in the local banks.

The county still deposits money in the Bank of North Dakota, some very large sums, including railroad tax money, having been deposited in the state bank recently.

The commission adopted a resolution asking Gov. Frazier to veto H. B. No. 25 on the ground that the bill, if it becomes a law, would seriously hamper the city. The measure limits the cities to raising by taxation one-third of the money raised for the last three years. In 1918 the city of Bismarck raised $57,930, in 1919 the taxes were $71,310 and in 1920 were $78,982.54. The amount which could be raised under the new measure in 1921 would be $69,400.00.

Buy Fire Hose.

The commission received bids for fire hose from several firms, including the United States Rubber company, W. S. Nott company, Bi-Lateral Fire Hose company, and J. N. Johnson company. The commission decided to purchase 500 feet of the Bi-Lateral company at $1.12 per lineal foot.

Benton Banker appeared before the commission in support of a petition previously filed by property owners asking the withdrawal of a track of land south of the N. P. tracks, lying near the Missouri river. The city attorney advised against permitting the withdrawal. Mr. Baker informed the commission that under existing law and under a law passed by the legislature this winter it is mandatory upon the city to permit the withdrawal from corporate limits of land not affected by city improvements. The matter was not definitely decided by the commission.

WILTON PLANS FOR BALL TEAM

Wilton, Mar. 15.—Tentative plans for a baseball team for Wilton are now under way and the Lignite City fans are confident a winning combination can be secured if sufficient funds are obtained.

A meeting was held Friday evening to hear the report of Messrs. A. C. Wilde, A. D. Hitt and Karl Knowles, the committee appointed to ascertain what material was available. Mr. Wilde reported that they could secure Jimmie Cunningham and John Chichosky for battery work and word had been received from Anderson, on last year's Bismarck team, that he would play in Wilton if sufficient remuneration and a job were given him.

Anderson is a first baseman and pitcher, and with these three men as a nucleus, the committee felt sure that Wilton would be able to get together a first-class organization.

Change to Checking Account.

Grafton, N. D., March 15.—Walsh county time deposits in the Bank of North Dakota, totaling $35,000, are to be converted into a checking account after maturity. The various certificates fall due between March 25 and 27. County commissioners have determined on the change.

GERMANS AND FRENCH FIGHT AT MEETING

Duesseldorf, Mar. 15.—(By the Associated Press.) Radical communists invited French soldiers to assist at a union meeting tonight. The soldiers, because the addresses were revolutionary, refused to stay and it became necessary to call police to quell the fighting which ensued.

The city housing department has been thrown into consternation because of a request by the occupational authorities for 399 two-room apartments, a 10-room house and a number of flats, all furnished.

They provide that water works systems may be obtained by condemnation proceedings and that funds may be raised through an assessment district. The measures were amended to also permit condemnation of electric light plants by cities. House bill No. 134, which contained the provision giving the state authority to go into the electric business in Bismarck, has not been signed, but it is expected the governor will affix his signature to the measure. The following additional bills have been signed by the governor:

CLAIM WESTERN RATES TOO HIGH

Washington, Mar. 15.—An increase of 6.5 per cent in passenger rates on western roads instead of the 20 per cent allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission would have been sufficient to return the amount set by the car receivers themselves as due them under the terms of the transportation act, the supreme court, is told in a supplemental brief filed today by John H. Benton, counsel for the 42 states which are co-operating with Wisconsin in the so-called Wisconsin rate case.

THUNDER AND LIGHTNING IN SLOPE TERRITORY FOR FIRST TIME DURING MARCH

Thunder and lightning in March! It happened last night in Bismarck, west of the city and north of the city and never has happened before in March, according to the best information of the United States Weather Bureau here.

There was thunder around Dickinson and Beach, and a shower at Fargo, the weather bureau reported. Following the rain and lightning in Bismarck last night the weather turned cold. An old resident of the city declared today that thunder and lightning in winter is always followed by extremely cold weather for four or six weeks. The scientific investigation of the weather bureau do not bear out this prediction, however.

The weather bureau is unable to give any explanation for the lightning and thunder of last night. Lightning is usually caused by an atmospheric pressure which did not obtain last night.

A few days ago two horses in a field near Garrison were killed by a bolt of lightning.

RECEIVER FOR STORES COMPANY
IS APPOINTEDJudge Moellering of Minot,
Grants Request of Consumers Co., for TrusteeHAS STORE AT WINGCompany Has Had Stormy Career Since Famous Split
With Farmers Union

W. G. Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the Consumers United States company, a Nonpartisan league mercantile corporation has been appointed receiver of the company by Judge Moellering, of Minot. Judge Moellering has been an active supporter of the company.

The Consumers United States company was first started in 1917 by J. W. Brinton and A. C. Townley. Its first store was at Kenmare. Its growth was rapid until the famous break with the Farmers Union at the special session of 1918, when Farmer Single of Dawson, D. E. Shipley of Dickinson, secretary of the Farmers Union and others in all-night session with A. C. Townley, were told, according to Mr. Engles and others that it was none of their "damn business" what he did with the money or the stores company.

The stores program, however, never recovered from the effect of the split in the farmer forces which developed then and little attempt was made to extend the corporation.

Tried to Re-organize.

The company was organized on the certificate plan by which holders after paying $100 were entitled to buy their goods from the store. About a year ago an attempt was made to re-organize it on a co-operative basis after the majority of the state banking board, Attorney General William Langer and Secretary of State Thomas Hall, had held the sale of the certificates illegal under the Blue Sky act.

The company has stores at Hurdsfield, Pettibone, Carleton, Fessenden, New Rockford, Dawson, Braddock, Wing and Garrison among other places in the Slope country.

It is claimed that the 87 stores and the Minot creamery aggregate in capital stock, merchandise and value of property, $981,000 in assets, while total liabilities are put about $300,000. Out of the total subscriptions of almost $1,000,000 to the capital stock of the company, less than $300,000 has been paid in cash by farmers who subscribed, it is claimed. A number of garnishments have been sought, according to L. L. Griffith, among others one for $5,564.48 by the Ransom County Farmers' bank of Lisbon.

Judge Moellering set April 9 as the date on which creditors might appear in answer.

HAMON GIRL ON WITNESS STAND
TO TELL STORYClaims That She Didn't Intentionally Shoot Jake
HamonSOBS DURING RECITALBreaks Down When She Comes to Point of Actual Shooting

Ardmore, Oklahoma, Mar. 15.—Clara Smith Hamon, charged with the murder of Jake L. Hamon took the witness stand in her trial here today and told her story of the incident of the day and night of Nov. 21 when Col. Hamon was shot.

She spoke dramatically in a cool, low-pitched voice, hesitating only when she told that the Colonel had cursed her. She answered a few preliminary questions and then launched into her story of their last day together.

When she reached the point in her story of the actual shooting she left the witness stand, and taking the pistol with which Hamon was shot, she illustrated how the shot was fired.

Accident She Claims

"I didn't go to do it," she said. "The pistol went off when he struck it, or I pulled the trigger or something—I know not what."

After a few preliminary questions in which she said she was 29 years old, knew Col. Hamon was married and that he had educated her to the right work for him she was asked to tell the jury how the shooting happened.

"In the morning," she asked, and was told to "begin that morning."

"We had breakfast about 11 o'clock," she said. "After breakfast Mr. Hamon left me. I presume he went to his office. He usually did on Sunday mornings. I went back to my room and in the afternoon about 2:30 or 3 o'clock, I don't just remember, he came back to the room and we had a very pleasant conversation."

"When the defendant tried to tell how Col. Hamon after he was shot said 'I am hit,' and had showed her the bloodspots forming on his shirt she broke down and sobbed."

Describes Struggle

She said she went for a ride in her car in the afternoon, and returned to find Hamon drunk—"crazier and runker than he had been in all the years I had known him." She had one to her room she said with Bill, her porter, who brought ice water.

"The minute Bill went out and the door was hardly closed Mr. Hamon said with an epithet, 'Where have you been?' and grabbed me at the same time and choked me and kicked me until I was blind and couldn't see a thing."

"He choked me and hit me and somehow he threw me on the bed and after he got me on the bed he beat me and slapped me, and beat me and hit me two or three times and took me by the foot and jerked me off the bed on my back and I had been operated on in the back and it hurt me extremely and he took pains to kick me in the back and kicked me and choked me."

Hamon tried to cut her throat the witness said, but couldn't lay his hands in a knife and she finally obtained possession of her pistol.

The shooting followed a few moments later, she said.

Ardmore, Okla., Mar. 15.—The court room was cleared after applause greeted a statement by W. P. McLean, counsel for the defense, attacking a remark made by H. H. Brown, state counsel, when he referred to the defendant's mother as "an old woman."

Clara told her mother and sister broke into tears and Clara was led from the court room with tears streaming from her eyes.

In the furor created an attempt was made to clear the court room but several minutes after the order not a score of persons had departed. Some effort was made to exclude the press, but the bench ruled the press might remain.

Court adjourned for an hour, from 10 to 11 A. M., and the attorneys had made explanation of their remarks which had created the furor.

MISS NEILSON RETURNS FROM BIG MEETING

Educators from Over the Union Gather at Atlantic City

SEES INAUGURATION

State Superintendent Minnie Nielson has returned from the national meeting of superintendents held at Atlantic City from February 25 to March 4.

Miss Nielson reports an attendance of city, county and state superintendents numbering about 5,000. Educators of national importance spoke on the various phases of educational work, and one of the most delightful events, Miss Nielson says, was the convention sermon given by Henry Van Dyke on "Art and Morals."

North Dakota was well represented in the delegations, including City Superintendents E. T. Smith of Carrington, M. E. Nugent of Larimore, Arthur Deamer of Fargo, George A. McFarland of Williston, County Superintendent Senneby Nerstrom of Wells county, President John E. Evgen of Mayville Normal school, Miss Anna Tibbitts of Fargo college, State High School Inspector Robertson, Rural School Inspector Erickson, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hutchinson of Fargo.

Miss Nielson states that the North Dakota delegation had quarters at the same hotel and that a state dinner was one of the social features of the trip. Beside the North Dakota members, the following former residents of the state joined them at the dinner: Former City Superintendent Root of the Bismarck high school, now head of the department of education of the Buffalo, N. Y. normal; A. L. Schafer, formerly deputy state superintendent in North Dakota, now head of the Junior Red Cross in Washington; Floyd Goodier, at one time with the Valley City Normal, now superintendent of Chicago Heights public schools; A. G. Crane, the first president of the Minot Normal school, now president of Edinboro, Pa. Normal school, former President Thos. Hillyer of the Mayville Normal school, now in Columbia college where he receives his Ph. D. degree in June; and Miss Louise Fitzgerald, at one time connected with the North Dakota Agricultural college as head of Boys' and Girls' clubs, and now in the home economics department of the National Dairy Council of Chicago. The dinner was a regulation North Dakota reunion where state songs, and stories of home interest and reminiscences made a gala day in the convention period.

In Washington, Miss Nielson says that the convention adjourned in time to go over to Washington for the inaugural of President Harding, where the immense assembly were able to hear every word of the president's inaugural address because of the "amplifier," a new mechanical device attached to the speaker's platform.

The North Dakota delegation joined the Minnesota special train at Minneapolis, headed by President Coffman of the University of Minnesota and journeyed east with them.

SALES GROWING, CAR DEMAND IS WIDE-SPREAD

Buick Sales Chief Tells of Conditions in the Motor World

BECOMES NECESSITY

(By E. T. Strong, Buick Motor Co.) Why did five Chicago dealers in one day invest nearly a half million dollars in Buick motor cars?

Why the telegrams from Boston, Philadelphia, Dallas, Memphis, Pittsburgh, Denver and California for additional cars to be added to their regular allotment?

Why did Minneapolis buy an entire trainload of Buicks in February? Why did the New York branch wire "Every indication points to very satisfactory business for the next three or four months. In figuring our requirements, we will need upwards of 1050 jobs between now and April first?"

There is but one answer. Conditions in many parts of the country are improving. That is the conclusion to be drawn from an examination of these things.

The passing of motor cars into the hands of owners in Chicago and New York is an indication that the business men in those cities who rely on the motor car for transportation in connection with the transaction of their business are experiencing an increase in business and with this assurance of a change for the better, they are taking steps to provide themselves with the motor car equipment they need.

The purchase of automobiles in the grain country of the Minneapolis territory is an indication that grain is moving and the growers are purchasing the motor cars they will need to enable them properly to care for and manage their large acreage and so on with the other cities and sections of the country.

The automobile long ago, became indispensable and today it would be impossible for the world's affairs to be conducted without the mode of transportation but the prosperity of the automobile industry, like the railroads, the telephone, the telegraph companies, depends upon the prosperity of business in general and naturally must feel a period of depression when business in general is depressed.

GIRL DECLARES PRISONERS WIFE

But Sailor Asserts He Married Her in March of 1920

Philadelphia, March 14.—Chief interest in the Henry Pierce murder trials that begin here on March 15 centers in the matrimonial tangle of "Boots" Rogers, 19-year-old ballet girl, who is one of the trio charged with the crime.

The girl has told police she married Peter T. Treadway, another of those charged with the murder, late in 1920. Ross Rogers, a sailor, says he married "Boots" in March of that year.

Will she stick to Treadway who she says, "might have escaped had he been willing to throw me over" or will she go back to Rogers, who still loves her and says he never will "throw her over?"

Pierce, rich Philadelphia business man, was found murdered Nov. 22 in his office in a downtown building. He had been beaten and robbed. Investigation disclosed that there had been a boisterous party in the office the night before and in a few days the Rogers girl and Treadway, a former boxer, were arrested together in Wheeling, W. Va. Joseph A. Moss, a mechanic, was arrested in Pittsburgh and police are still searching for a third man, Al Smith.

The girl has been a mystery to police ever since her arrest. She has laughed and chatted gaily with her jailers.

At Wheeling she told officers her name was Mrs. Norman West. Later she and Treadway admitted the West name was fictitious. At Philadelphia after Rogers' appearance the girl said her name was Marie Rogers.

Rogers says her real name is Susie Evangelina. He, with the girl's mother and brother, seek to persuade "Boots" to turn state's evidence against the men.

"I don't want her to be an 'informant' to gain her freedom, but I do want her to tell the whole truth and to shield no one," says Ross. "I believe she has been a tool in the hands of others. I know she is innocent of murder. She is not a vampire."

Still Loves Her. "I love my wife. I have forgiven her indiscretions with Treadway, and I will stick to her throughout the trial and take her home when she is free."

"I was introduced to her in February, 1920, a short time after I had gone to New York from Texas. We both attended the same church regularly. It was a case of love at first sight, and in March we were married. I took her to Philadelphia and we moved into a place on Arch street."

"She liked parties and dances. I would rather have stayed at home, but I humored her."

"I was a mail clerk on the U. S. S. Frederiek, and on Aug. 20th I was called to sea. I left Susie $400 and sent her $50 every month out of my $94.40 monthly pay."

"Soon after I had gone, a neighbor woman induced Susie to smoke—and then to drink. She stopped going to church. She went out nights."

"Then this woman introduced Susie to Al Smith and Smith introduced her to Treadway. He was a clever fellow with money and a car. He flattered Susie—and called me a boob. He told her $91.40 a month was only kid's pay. It was the old, old story."

"But I married her for better or for worse and I'll stick to her."

Mrs. Myrtle Planovsky, mother of the girl, in New York, says she has pledged her jewelry and raised $1,000 to aid in her daughter's defense.

"Susie taught in Sunday school here and never had a love affair until she met Ross Rogers," says the mother. "She went to Philadelphia and when Ross was called to sea, she became the victim of loneliness and liquor."

After Rogers had visited her several times in jail, wardens said the girl appeared distressed. She seemed to be a flickering of the old love for her husband. She seemed to be trying to make up her mind.

On the one hand, there is the big-hearted, boyish husband, still in love with her and willing to forgive everything.

On the other is Treadway, the split-tongued, adventurous youth who likes the bright, gay life that so strongly appealed to the girl.

Which will she choose?

Her story of the murder told in the case of Treadway, who is expected to go on trial first, will show.

NUMBER MOTORS BEST FOR CAR AN OLD DEBATE

Oakland Motor Company's Views of Situation Are Presented

SAY SIX ECONOMICAL

In this day, with economy of motor car operations as "live" a topic as the weather wherever men gather, the old controversy of the "four" vs "six" has been revived.

Most motorists are of the fixed opinion that a six-cylinder engine must necessarily consume more gasoline than a four. The second item in "economy debates" usually concerns tire mileage and votaries of the "fours" are usually strong in their contention that a "four" is lighter in weight, with consequent saving of rubber.

Admitting his prejudice in favor of the six, Mr. S. W. Corwin who directs the local activities of the Oakland Motor Co. of Pontiac, Mich., asks four-cylinder champions to consider several things in connection with this economy idea that may add fuel to the fire of argument.

"The 'four' must travel in first and intermediate speed more often than the 'six'—I think all will agree to that," is the way he introduces his statements.

More Gasoline.

"And it must be admitted that more gasoline is consumed in traveling in first or second than in high. It cannot be denied that a light-weight, highly efficient, overhead valve engine will pick up easier and with less labor and gear shifting than a 'four.' If this were not true I think all cars would be 'fours' as it costs less to build them.

"Well, in this continual gear shifting, running in first or second, hard labor and—such, more gasoline is wasted than in anything except a broken feed line or punctured tank.

"Why, do you imagine that Oakland could assemble its '18 to 20 miles on a gallon' testimony on anything except this fact?"

Federated Clubs Directors Told of Need of Proper Recreation

The annual meeting of the executive board of the North Dakota Federation of Women's Clubs closed its one day meeting with a banquet and reception at the Gladstone Thursday evening at Jamestown.

The board was in session all day in the forenoon the chairman of departments, with their division chairmen met, all meeting with the executive board in the afternoon, and presented their plans for the work each division is doing and plans on doing.

She urged the club women to use their influence to make the fourth of July a great day; have all new citizens of the past year welcomed. Let every woman make a friend of at least one foreign woman. Let every town club woman make a real friend of one country woman and

THE BEST TEST

Is the Test of Time

Years ago J. A. Montgomery, of 411 Eighth St., Bismarck, told of good results from using Doan's Kidney Pills. Now Mr. Montgomery confirms the former statement—says there has been no return of the trouble. Can Bismarck people ask for more convincing testimony?

Mr. Montgomery gave the following statement February 24, 1913: "I suffered a long time with a bad back which I knew was caused by my kidneys being out of order. Finally I got some of Doan's Kidney Pills and they proved to be just what I needed. They strengthened my back and kidneys and I have never had any more kidney trouble."

On October 11, 1919, Mr. Montgomery said: "I think more highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today than when I previously recommended them. The cure they made for me at that time has remained permanent."

every country woman a real friend of one town woman. Mrs. Strand said: "Why do not more of our towns provide the right kind of recreation for our young people? Their dance halls must be properly supervised." She urged the women to go and see that the halls were supervised and to use their influence to raise the standards of the jazz out of the music and the jazz out of the dress. Concluding she stated "we must have more sane thinking if we are to make better citizens."

Public Welfare. The department of public welfare was presented by Mrs. W. B. Wanner of Wimbeldon. She spoke of laws needed for protection of child in industry and urged a campaign for better babies be held each year. She emphasized the need of pre-natal and infant care. Only one in ten of our babies live in the United States. 40 per cent of the number die because of lack of proper care of the mother and baby. The United States ranked fourteenth in care of the mother and baby. The United States ranked fourth in care of its babies. The nurses over the state are doing a great work; there are thirty-five county school nurses in the state.

Mrs. E. H. Maercklin, Ashley, division chairman, gave a report on the control of contagious diseases.

Mrs. Andrew Shaw of Jamestown, is chairman of the department of legislation. She urged every woman to study political science, and to spend time studying conditions and the needs of the state.

Aid For Cripple Children. Mrs. Jones, Lisbon, assistant chairman on legislation, made a strong appeal for the crippled children of our state. Minnesota and other states have hospitals, with specialists giving their service free, and where cripples are made well. Mrs. Jones is gathering statistics for this state for the purpose that in some counties there are as many as one hundred crippled children.

Mrs. F. R. Smyth, Bismarck, chairman of the press department gave a report of the club bulletin, which is published four times a year. She asked the women to send to her any news of interest to the club women.

Mrs. Frank Thompson, Fargo, reported for the department of fine arts. Mrs. Thompson emphasized the need of community singing, and better motion pictures.

The division chairmen present were Mrs. Don Nierling in charge of school music and composition; Mrs. A. P. Nachtway, Dickinson, American folk songs and Mrs. S. N. Putman, New Rockford, of Biblical literature.

Urge Education Bill. Miss Minnie J. Nielson, chairman of applied education asked the members to work for the passage of the Smith-Towner bill. "We have in this country one and one-half million above the age of ten, who can't read or write. They are not all in the south, for we have them in our own state in every county. If the Smith-Towner bill is passed there will be more money needed by this state for education. She urged the women to write their senators and representatives at Washington.

Others present were Mrs. M. O. Neill, Hettinger, vice chairman of the applied education department; Mrs. Ida Caldwell, Monango, division chairman of library extension and Mrs. Martha Emery, Dickinson, chairman of parent-teachers association.

Very interesting reports of the plans for the district meetings were given by the presidents of the eight districts. These district meetings will be held in May.

Officers Present. Officers of the board present were Mrs. J. O. Hanchett, Harvey, treasurer; Mrs. A. C. McLane, Kenmare, auditor; Mrs. Frank White, Valley City, historian; Mrs. J. A. Shepard, Fargo, chairman of county chairmen; directors, Mrs. C. J. Lord, Cando; Mrs. T. N. Yeomans, Minot; and Mrs. J. E. Featherstone, Valley City. District presidents, Mrs. Geo. P. Holmes, Crosby, 3rd; Mrs. A. E. Jones, Lisbon, 4th; Mrs. W. E. Hoopes, Carrington 5th; Mrs. Mark F. Jones, Beach; 7th, and Mrs. C. S. Buck, Jamestown, 8th.

DISMISSAL OF TAX SUITS IS BEING URGED

Letter Goes Out to States Attorneys to Go Busy

Notices are being sent out from the office of Attorney-General by W. A. Anderson, first assistant Attorney General, to state attorneys in various parts of the state advising them to the motions for the dismissal of all actions brought by railroad companies or other parties for abatement of taxes without first having submitted the matter to the county commissioners for adjustment.

The letter is based upon senate bill No. 156, passed with an emergency clause and signed by the Governor. The bill provides that "no action shall be brought in the courts of this state to annul any tax or tax assessments or to recover back taxes erroneously paid, or any part thereof, until the same shall first have been submitted to the board of county commissioners for adjustment in accordance with the existing law, and all actions hereinafter brought, or heretofore brought which have not been prosecuted to judgment shall, on motion be dismissed without prejudice, provided, that this act shall not apply to special assessments."

WOMEN WITHOUT CANDIDATE IN CITY ELECTION

Several Urged to Be Candidates—Matter Discussed at a Meeting

With the time for filing petitions for candidates for the city commission to expire at 6 P. M. Wednesday evening the women of Bismarck were still without a candidate today.

It appeared improbable this afternoon that any woman would enter the lists for the city positions, although the names of several women as possible candidates have been mentioned and several have been urged to become candidates.

There was a meeting of a large number of women in the city yesterday at which the lack of representation of women among the candidates for the city commission was discussed, and some of those present, indignant at what they felt was a lack of consideration of the woman voter, wanted to enter the campaign with vigor.

There were only five candidates for the city commission this afternoon, however. It was understood that petitions would be out for S. S. Clifford or the commission.

They are Happy and Well

You Should Be the Same

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place.

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

North Troy, N. Y.—"When I was a young girl I had a severe female trouble. Mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after taking several bottles I was strong and well. When my daughter got married she was feeling miserable and I recommended your medicine. She is greatly improved in health and has a beautiful baby boy four months old. So you see this letter comes from the third generation and you may use it as you wish."—Mrs. R. M. GREENAWAY, 557 4th Ave., North Troy, N. Y.

Hutchinson, Kan.—"I was about 13 years old when I developed a female weakness. My mother took me to a doctor and I doctored for several months. I was too sick to do anything, was as thin as could be, and my complexion was yellow. Mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it had helped her so much that she got some for me and before I had finished the second bottle I was feeling fine and have been ever since."—Mrs. J. A. THE CUTTY SARK
A strange ship flying the Portuguese flag puts into a South African port for repairs. She is the Cutty Sark, last of the famous "China clippers" remaining on the high seas.
The era of the clipper ship was a bare quarter of a century. The first was launched in 1845. Steamships crowded the clippers out of business and with them went most of the romance of ocean life.
It is doubtful if man ever produced a more artistic creation than the clipper ship flying before the wind with its 36,000 square feet of sails spread like the picture you remember in your school books. There was luv in the names of those sails—the Taeping, Lahloo, Jib-o-Jib, and Jamie Green sails.
The clippers were wooden ships and, as wood was plentiful in American in those days, and cheap the small clippers permitted the United States to build up a merchant marine that in 1860 totaled 2,314,520 tons. From then until the World War our merchant marine declined steadily.
In 1920 the United States built and launched a ship tonnage greater than the whole American merchant fleet afloat in 1860. Many of these ships could carry the Cutty Sark as cargo, but, considering conditions 70 years ago, our ancestral shipbuilders were not so slow.
Our forefathers lost their merchant marine. Let us guard ours.

There'd be no need for a naval program if battleships could spring up overnight.

A MODEL WOMAN
What is a model woman? asks a newspaper. And in reply readers are painting lovely word pictures of the women of their dreams.
Now the classic tribute to a model woman was that which was written by the Englishman, Jonathan Swift, in memory of Esther Johnson. Swift described her as "the truest, most virtuous and valuable friend, that I, or perhaps any other person, ever was blessed with."
Of her Swift wrote:

"In conversation she was never given to interruption, or appeared eager to put in her word. She spoke in most agreeable voice, in the plainest words.
"She was but little versed in the common topics of female chat; scandal, censure and detraction never came out of her mouth.
"She read carefully the best books which serve to open and enlarge the mind. She bought clothes as seldom as possible, and those as plain and cheap as consisted with the situation she was in; and wore no lace for many years.
"Honor, truth and liberality, good nature and modesty were the virtues she chiefly possessed. She laughed at no one's mistakes, and if a good thing were spoken, but neglected, she would not let it fall, but set it in the best light to those who were present."
And she was as beautiful as she was good, for she "was looked upon as one of the most beautiful, graceful and agreeable young women in London, only a little too fat."

Well, girls, do you know of a better model than Esther Johnson?

Looks as if we'll get to a pre-war basis on everything but taxes and national debt.

DANCING, THEN AND NOW
Those who abhor modern dances like to point to old times when dancing in its purity was the poetry of motion. There were the stately minuet and the quadrille in its many varieties, wherein belles and beaux bowed with exceeding grace and held each other only by the hand.
They sigh for those times and those dances; and every day or so one reads a new denunciation of syncopated dancing. And many there are who sincerely believe there were never times like these, so lost to modesty.
And yet—well, in the year 1730 a citizen of London, having visited the dancing school of a Mr. Rigadoon with whom his daughter was taking dancing lessons, felt called upon to write an indignant letter to the London Spectator concerning what he saw there.
"I was amazed," he wrote, "to see my girl handed by, and handing young fellows with so much familiarity; and I could not have thought it was in the child."
"At last an impudent young dog bid the fiddlers play a dance called 'Moll Pately' and after having made two or three capers, ran to his partner, locked his arms in hers, and whisked her round above the ground in such a manner that I, who sat upon one of the lowest benches, saw further above her shoes than I can think fit to acquaint you with.

"I could no longer endure these enormities; wherefore, just as my girl was going to be made a whirligig, I ran in, seized on the child, and carried her home."
This happened nearly 200 years ago. And 200 years hence some writer bent on showing that, after all, his generation is not the worst ever, will point out that way back in 1921 folks were complaining about dances known as the camel-walk and the toddle and deploring the decadence of the times.
Our times, if not the best, are not the worst. External change; human nature is unchanging.

HOSTAGES TO FORTUNE
The most quoted words of Francis Bacon, English philosopher, are: "He that hath wife and children hath given hostages to fortune, for they are impediments to great enterprises, either of virtue or mischief. Certainly the best works and of greatest merit for the public have proceeded from the unmarried or childless men."
Bacon was himself a bachelor and, therefore, may have been biased and prejudiced when discussing the comparative merits of single and married men.
It is interesting to examine his claim in the light of the experience of the 300 years that have passed since his death. Some of man's "best works and of the greatest merit for the public" have been performed within that time. And who has done them—married or single men?
Well, there was Bacon's contemporary, Shakespeare, a married man; and Oliver Cromwell, married; and Milton, the poet, married; and George Washington, married; and Benjamin Franklin, married; and Abraham Lincoln, married; and Thomas Edison, married.

These names of men of great merit come to mind offhand. How many equally renowned bachelors can you think of quickly?
It was Franklin, who, discussing the usefulness of wives to men who are successful, said:
"We have an English proverb that says: 'He that would thrive, must ask his wife.' It was lucky for me that I had one as much disposed to industry and frugality as myself."

ON GETTING MARRIED
An aviatrix, whose marriage engagement is announced, is quoted as saying: "Flying is nothing. It's a great deal safer than getting married, but I'm going to take a chance."
The lady's attitude reminds us of those young men who, after some courtship and considerable thought, go about among their friends asking them whether they think it wise to get married. They betray the fear of the aviatrix, that marriage is more dangerous than flying.
Happily these faint hearts are in the minority, else the earth would be a desert fit to fly away to Betelgeuse and be burned up. It is one of the benevolences of Providence that in most cases marriage is approached without tremor. The young man knows that his soul has found its other self, that she was intended for him since the dawn of time, that they will live ever afterward without a cross word, and that their great love will enable him to meet all the installment payments on the dot. He not only refuses to question others on his judgment but he flies into a fury should that judgment be questioned. And this is as it ought to be.
Anybody who wonders whether he or she ought to get married should stay single until the doubt goes. New York Herald.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME - BY ALLMAN

PEOPLE'S FORUM IS THIS A WHEAT STATE?
Editor Tribune—
Federal crop reports for the last six years show wheat yield 11.3 bu., 1915 yield 6.7 and 1920, 9 bu., while the corn yield for 1915 was 33 bu. and 1920 24 bu. per acre, and the average potato yield for the state is 87 bushels.
The state of North Dakota has been considered or treated as a wheat state for many years and devoted in the main to wheat production—large acreage per farm, short working season and a long shot gamble on the elements and unfavorable forces militating against any assurance of yields. Every area of the country that has been devoted to the wheat production has gone through the same general conditions and people have staid by until the mortgages and debts have absorbed all or more than the assets and the saturation point of credits reached. This is true of Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota and has been true of those sections of the state of North Dakota until the farmers directed their activities along other lines. Not one of the above states made any progress agriculturally until wheat raising was relegated as a secondary consideration and this done wonderful progress was made.
Please observe values and conditions on southeastern quarter of the state or even southern Emmet county where the values of improved farms run from $50 to $80 per acre and moving simply for the reason the farmers are engaged in corn and stock production.
The larger part of the state has proven itself as a distinctly corn area and is also particularly adapted to corn, sweet clover, broom grass, millet, speltz, etc., and as the years go by will become more so with the inoculation and fertilization of the soil and acclimatization of the seed. The land values of the state are so deflated they are certainly on a rock bottom basis and are far better investment than any of the lands that are held today in those areas where the values are or have been so severely inflated and a superload to carry and liquidated on low priced products and the position of the agricultural interests of the state is really no comparison to that in other states.
The prosperity of the inland Empire serving the city of Bismarck will be measured by the deflection from the old methods of farming to agriculture with corn and grasses mentioned as a long suit with cattle, hogs, poultry and dairying as a leading feature. Just the change that has taken place in other states where values have advanced from mere nothing to as high as $200 to $300 per acre.
Very truly,
FARMER.

By Florence Corner
When th' winter has fled, an' th' snow is gone,
An' ol' Mr. Frog is singin' his song;
Oh, then is the time for a chap like me,
An' I'm as happy as I can be
'Cause I'll soon be goin' barefoot.
Out where th' creek runs so cool an' deep,
Down where th' dear little violets peep,
Blue jay an' robin a settin' up there,
Seemin' t' say: "Will you take a day?
Bet you're afraid to go barefoot."
Pull off your stockin's an' wade right out,
Nothin' on earth for to worry about;
Let mothers scold just as much as they please,
Boys will be boys, an' such days as these
You can't keep from goin' barefoot.

Do This For Constipation
THE public should know that there is a vast difference in the action of the various remedies for constipation. Some are "rushes," purges, physics. They gripe and weaken. Others are laxatives. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently and mildly so that even a tiny baby can use it with safety. It is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. A sixty-cent bottle will last an average family many months.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the most popular of all laxatives and more is used in American homes than any other. Last year eight million bottles were sold by druggists, the largest sale in the world.

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

WHEAT TAKES

UPWARD TURN

Chicago, Mar. 15.—Fresh export business led to moderate upturns today in the price of wheat.

Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 1-1/2 cents higher were followed by a general sag and then by upturns again.

The close was unsettled 1-2 to 2-1/2 cents net higher.

SUSPECT IS NOT MAIL ROBBER

Boston, Mar. 15.—After comparing the finger prints of a man who killed a railway mail clerk in a hold-up near Minneapolis, Feb. 18, with those of Miner Crawford, who was arrested here Saturday, federal officials said today that there was no connection between the men. Marks of identification on the robber also were lacking when Crawford was examined.

With the Movies

One of the most daring aerial stunts ever registered by the motion picture camera, occurs in Marshall Neilan's latest big photoplay of newspaper life, "Go and Get It." This amazing picture will be the first National attraction at the Elling beginning Thursday.

Pat O'Malley, the youthful screen star has given picture fans the surprise of their life in his stunt work in Marshall Neilan's latest photoplay, "Go and Get It" which comes to the Elling beginning Thursday. In this startling drama of newspaper life which the First National is releasing, O'Malley performs almost impossible feats of daring.

One of the most interesting things in the world today is the "getting out" of a great daily newspaper. In Marshall Neilan's latest offering "Go and Get It," the making of a great city newspaper is truthfully pictured. And it is not set studio stuff as every bit of it was taken in the plant of one of the great Los Angeles dailies. "Go and Get It" will be a First National attraction at the Elling beginning Thursday.

BOLD BROWN SPIDER

WHEN Brown Spider first began to look after himself he was so "conceited that everyone said in Spider Town that he would come to grief at an early age.

He spun webs in the most dangerous places, and no matter what happened to the web Brown Spider was sure to escape unharmed and begin another home in a more dangerous place.

"You will be killed some day," warned all the neighborhood spiders, for there were many spiders living in the attic where Brown Spider lived, but he only laughed at their warning and kept on with his reckless doings.

One day Puss came to the attic hunting for mice, and when she ran under a chair where Brown Spider sat in his web near the floor she took the web and Brown Spider, too, away on her back.

Everyone thought that was the end of him, but by-and-by he came running across the attic floor and began a new web under a low shelf by the window.

"I guess you were scared that time," said one spider from her safe home high in a corner.

"But I won't let those old fellows know it," he said. (Copyright.)

HAIR DRESSER'S TIPS

SOMETIMES my hair dresser grows so talkative, and then she tells me all sorts of interesting and useful things about the hair, things based on her wide and personal experience, things too valuable to be lost in the tiny room where she wields a brush and a vibrator and where she juggles tall bottles of sweet smelling oils.

"The average woman is too harsh with her hair," she said the other day. "Either she brushes it furiously, or she doesn't brush it at all; either she slicks over it when washing, or she washes the life from it."

"Not all scalp can stand tar soap, though it is a good soap. But it is harsh. I use coconut oil, because it is mild and cleansing and nourishing; it is a dandruff preventive, and it will not hurt the most sensitive scalp. I use it for all colors of hair, except cases where there is too much natural oil, and then I use a soap with the least bit of borax in its makeup. If for any reason I run short of coconut oil, I use olive oil or castile soap.

"I use a free lather first, rinse, and use a very light lather. I can tell from the feel of the hair, though.

"Off off."

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

By C. N. Lurie

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"OFF OF."

THE use of the phrase which heads this article leads often to errors that are seen to be ludicrous, when analyzed. For example, one will hear the question: "Where did you buy that steak?" The answer comes: "I got it off of the butcher around the corner." To get a steak "off of" the butcher might suit a cannibal very well, but the very idea would shock anyone else. In proper usage, omit the "off," say: "I got it of (or from) the butcher around the corner."

There are cases of the misuse of the phrase "off of" that are not ludicrous, as in the instance already cited but in which the "of" is not needed and instead of saying, "He jumped off of the car," say "He jumped off the car." A fish who expects to open a store says: "Will you buy something off of me?" He should say: "Will you buy something from me?"

SUCH IS LIFE

"Eighteen years ago I had three ribs broken, fourteen years ago my right leg eleven years ago I nearly went over with typhoid fever and since then have had awful stomach and liver trouble. Was filled with gas most all the time. I would have colic attacks so bad as to become unconscious. No medicine helped me and doctors advised an operation. One day talking with a stranger he recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which helped me at once." New Millinery For Easter Distinctively different are the new Easter styles—as never before, displaying the charm of youthfulness. Some are simple but not plain; others are elaborate but not freakish; all are new—decidedly new; all are lovely and becoming.

There is such a variety of correct styles—smart sailors, striking turbans, side rolls, flaring styles and jaunty brimmed shapes.

Henna, Copper, Leather, Brown, Dove Grey, Orange, Tangerine and Pastel Tints are among the delightful colors.
